Wood as a construction and interior material is natural and warm, it is easy to process and has a variety of finishing options. Saunas and spas are very particular due to high temperatures and fluctuations in the moisture balance, which is why the wood used must be of high quality and durable.

Genetrade's product range includes the most suitable materials for the most demanding conditions and special rooms. Our products stand the test of time, enhance the beauty of the living environment and provide joy for many years to come.
